At Ark Agency, we appreciate that every one of our clients has unique needs when it comes to their specific horse insurance coverage. Not only do our experienced associates and friendly staff strive to meet those needs, but we also uphold our high standards for providing exceptional customer service.

Equine Coverage Without Involving a Broker

At Ark Agency, we are concerned with the specific equine insurance needs that you have, and not what your broker thinks you have. Often times, insurance agents and brokers will come up with a list of risks that they assume you have, without looking directly at your unique needs. The outcome is often horse insurance that is unfavorable for you.

Our experience with equine insurance allows us to provide our individual customers with top quality coverage that is tailored to their exact needs. Through person-to-person service, you are better able to get the secure coverage you are looking for.

Insure Your Horse Breeding Business for Liability

If you raise horses and / or own a stallion that you use to service your own mares or those owned by other people, you have several moderately high and unique liability exposures that will not be covered by your Homeowners Policy, and may not be by your Farm Insurance Policy. If you have a money making motive with your horses, you have a commercial horse venture that requires commercial liability insurance.

Those who breed their own horses may have these commercial exposures or activities:

Horse sales, open house events, visitors to your farm, advertising & promotion, and showing, exhibiting, riding or driving of your horses for promotional purposes both on and off premises.

If you stand a stallion at public stud:

You also have a Horse Boarding and Care, Custody & Control Liability Insurance (CCC) exposure because you care for mares and foals owned by others. Some farms also provide foaling services which is another CCC exposure.

Exotic Animal Insurance

Insure The Life of Your Exotic Animals (Elk, Bison, Llamas, Alpacas, Camels)

Full Mortality & Theft Insurance

A type of insurance for your valuable exotic animals that is similar to a term life policy on a person. The Full Mortality policy insures against financial loss due to the death of an insured animal that is caused by or necessitated by both natural and accidental causes. Proven Theft coverage is also included.

To qualify, your animals must be physically sound and in good health. A current veterinary certificate of health is usually required. Some age and value restrictions may apply.
